

We support this policy's aim of restricting urban activities that are not supported with urban amenities, services, etc, and other public health infrastructure that supports safe and healthy communities like footpaths, lighting, and critical infrastructure.

Policy UG 20B: Managing reverse sensitivity effects on rural production activities and infrastructure in rural areas

Toi Te Ora supports this policy because by managing inappropriately located subdivision use and development in rural areas public health will be safeguarded. The separation between incompatible land uses provides the best protection for human health.

Policy UG 19B: Providing for rural lifestyle activities – Western Bay of Plenty sub-region

As previously mentioned in policy UG 8B, it is also critical to protect areas that are not yet impacted by nutrient runoff.

Toi Te Ora is available to discuss any point raised in this submission.

Dr Jim Miller

Medical Officer of Health
Te Manawa Taki
National Public Health Service

Address for Service:

Cushla Vanstone
Health Protection Officer
Te Whatu Ora – Toi Te Ora Public Health
Te Manawa Taki - National Public Health Service
PO Box 2120
Tauranga
0800 221 555
enquiries@toiteora.govt.nz

References:

Dahlgren G, Whitehead M. 1991. Policies and Strategies to Promote Social Equity in Health. Stockholm: Institute of Futures Studies.
Ministry of Health (2022). Urban Development. Urban Development | Ministry of Health NZ