Introduction

Purpose and role of Local Government

The Local Government Act 2002 (LGA) provides for democratic and effective Local Government that recognises the diversity of New Zealand communities and identifies the general framework and powers under which local authorities operate.

The purpose of Local Government is:

- to enable democratic local decision-making and action by, and on behalf of, communities, and
- to promote the social, economic, environmental, and cultural well-being of communities in the present and for the future.

The role of a local authority is to:

- give effect, in relation to its district or region, to the purpose of Local Government stated above, and
- perform the duties, and exercise the rights, conferred on it, by or under this Act and any other enactment.

For further details on Local Government, visit the <http://www.localcouncils.govt.nz> website.

The governance structure through which Council carries out its governance functions, and formally delegates its powers and responsibilities in accordance with the provisions and requirements of the LGA, is outlined in this document.

Delegation to Council committees

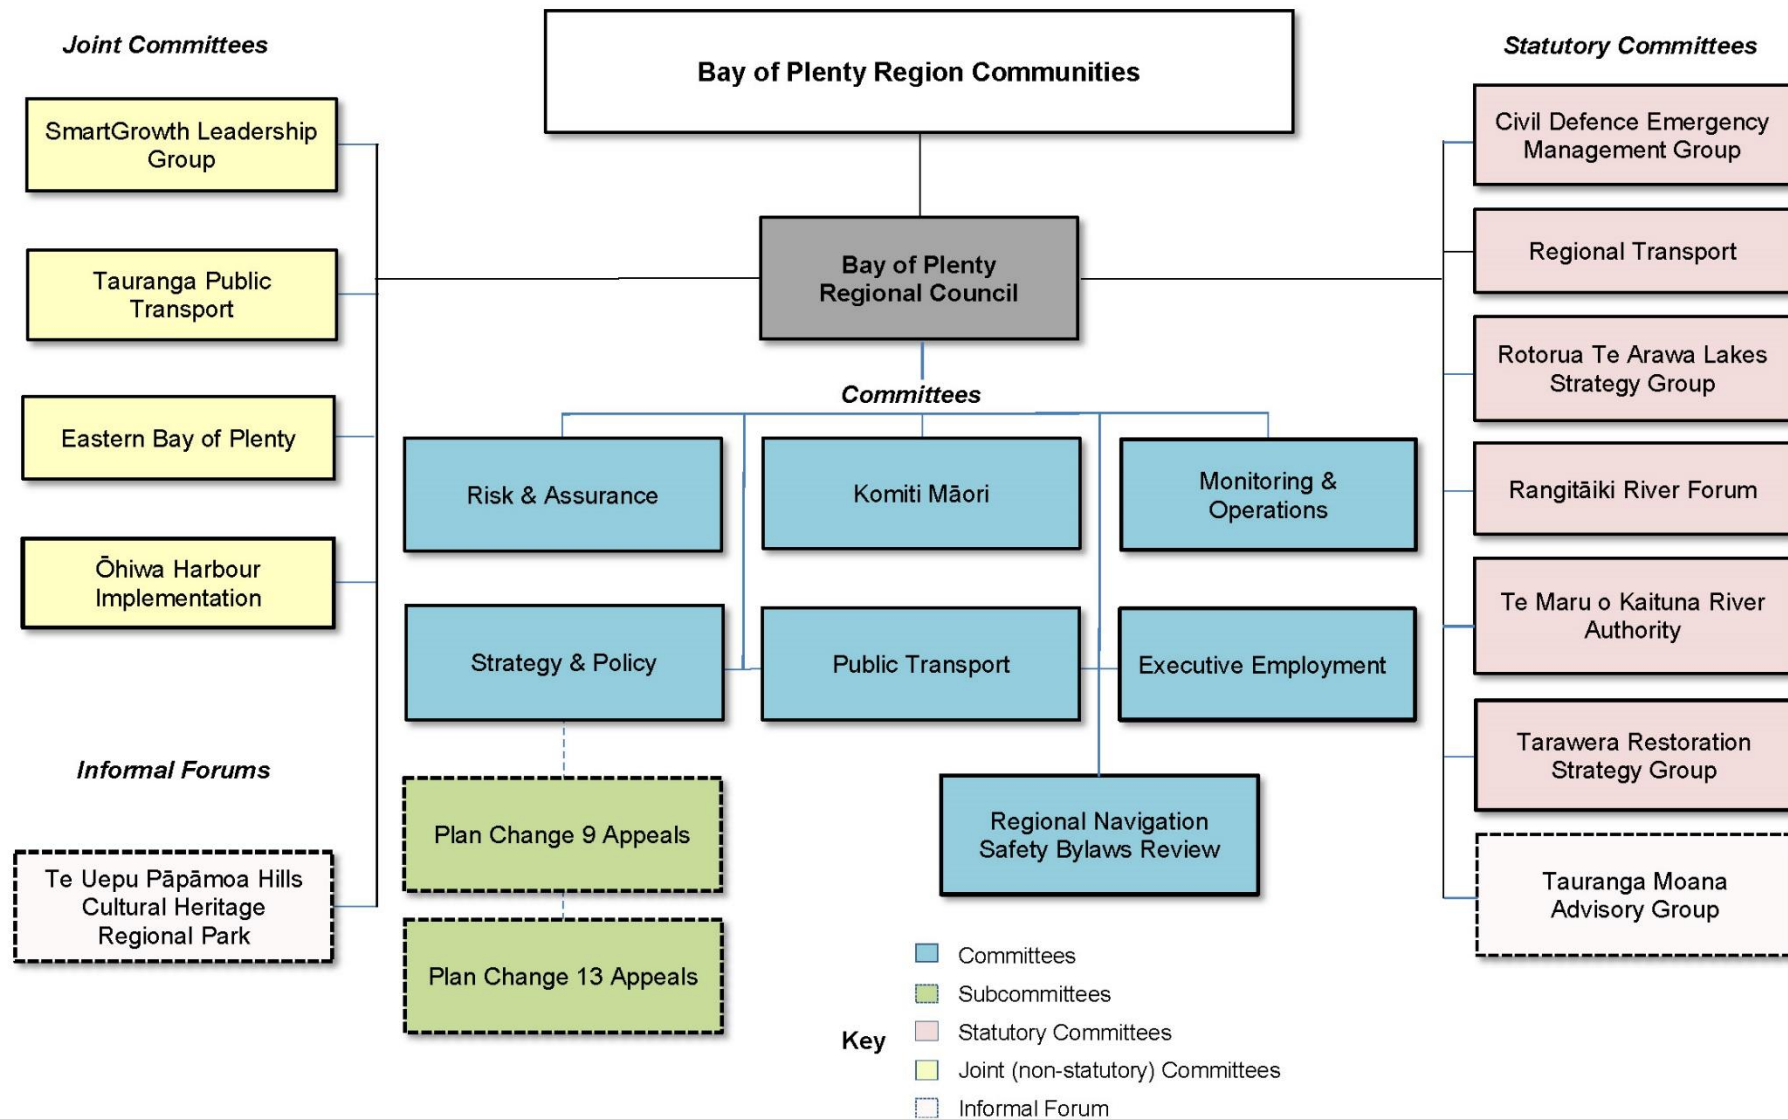

To ensure efficient and effective decision-making, Council makes use of committees and subcommittees. These committees and subcommittees have specific delegated authorities, duties and powers and these are clearly stated in each of the Terms of Reference. Each committee has authority under the LGA 2002 to establish/disestablish subcommittees as the need arises.

Each is empowered to make the decisions within its role identified in its Terms of Reference without needing to go back to Council. Where a matter is beyond its Terms of Reference, committees and subcommittees make recommendations to their parent bodies.

The Chairperson of the Regional Council is an ex officio member of every committee of the Bay of Plenty Regional Council Toi Moana (BOPRC) (including standing, special, joint and subcommittees, excluding co-governance entities) pursuant to Section 41A(5) of the LGA. As such, the Chair has the rights and responsibilities of every other member and may count towards the quorum.

A Council committee, subcommittee or other subordinate decision-making body is, unless Council resolves or it is stated in the Terms of Reference otherwise, deemed to be discharged at the end of a triennium (Clause 30(7) of Schedule 7 of the LGA).
